'The Walking Dead' walks into its final AMC season

It'll be a long goodbye for "The Walking Dead," which its many fans aren't likely to mind.

The 11th and final season of AMC's hugely popular zombie drama starts Sunday, Aug. 22 – and it really is only the beginning of the end, since after that eight-episode arc ends, two more will wrap up the series in 2022. The Chris Hardwick-hosted "Talking Dead" postmortem will continue to follow each new episode, which also can be accessed a full week earlier on the AMC+ streaming service.

Noting that a summer start for "The Walking Dead" is unusual, executive producer Scott Gimple explained in a recent Comic-Con at Home session that the last season tells "a big story, and it takes a lot of turns. We reinvent (after) every eight episodes, so we're going to put the audience through their paces. We're going to give them an epic, extended goodbye."

Jeffrey Dean Morgan has been a big part of the "Walking Dead" cast as the sinister Negan, though the Season 10 finale saw major developments that could have made viewers more empathetic toward him.

Nevertheless, Morgan reasons, "I don't think that ever will sway the people who hate Negan. If there were people on the fence about him, that may have turned them a little bit. The opportunity to tell that story was exceedingly special, and to do it with Hilarie (Burton, Morgan's wife, who played Negan's spouse Lucille) certainly made it one of the highlights of my time here."

Lauren Cohan, who plays widowed mother Maggie, says she's been having "the most fun I've ever had on the show" since returning in Season 10 "in terms of just navigating this ocean of what you want to do and what you can do."

One of "The Walking Dead's" most prominent actors as Daryl Dixon, Norman Reedus notes, "I feel like my character has changed in all these different ways, but he takes little pieces of all these people he learned from. I know Negan is the show's big baddie, but if the apocalypse didn't happen, Daryl would be the one you wouldn't put your hand out and say hello to."

Executive producer Angela Kang is glad to get back to storytelling on a large scale as "The Walking Dead" concludes. "Obviously, the pandemic changed a lot of how we had to do everything," she reflects. "It was really fun to do these very focused, intimate episodes (to end Season 10), but with Season 11, we're going to go out with a bang. The stunts and scares are a lot of the fun for those of us who work on the show, and I'm really excited to share it with the audience."

DISCOVER FLORIDA'S FIRST LIGHTHOUSE

The original first-order Fresnel lens in the St. Augustine Lighthouse was manufactured in Paris, France. In 1986, a vandal shot the lens at the top of the tower, damaging 19 of its 370 prisms. Then President of the Junior Service League of St. Augustine, Virginia Whetstone, spearhcaded a first-of-its-kind restoration project with Dan Spinella of Disney Corporation. Taking advantage of breakthroughs in laser technology, Dan measured the prisms and created the means to fabricate a new bullseye panel and 18 other prisms.

Two Coast Guardsmen, Joseph Cocking, and Nicholas Johnston, who still service the Fresnel lens today, took out the damaged parts, replaced them, and aligned the beam correctly. Initially thought of as an impossible task for a fledgling non-profit, a team effort ensured the Fresnel lens restoration, which served as a pilot project that led to other original lens restorations across the United States.

"Untold"

Chapman and Maclain Way are the creative forces behind this five-part documentary series that explores the stories behind some pivotal sports moments in history, among them Indiana Pacer Ron Artest's altercation with a fan that touched off a massive brawl with the Detroit Pistons in 2004 and Caitlyn Jenner's reflections on winning the gold medal at the 1976 Summer Olympics. (ORIGINAL)

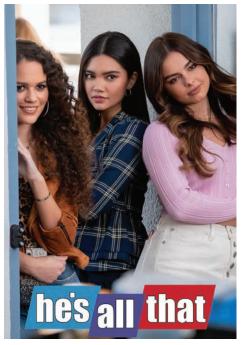

"Bake Squad"

Milk Bar founder Christina Tosi ("MasterChef USA," "Unique Sweets") is front and center of this competition series, which in each episode she brings together four talented bakers to battle it out to see whose dessert will be chosen for someone's extra special big day and make dessert dreams come true. (ORIGINAL)

"Motel Makeover"

This unscripted series follows Canadian entrepreneurs April Brown and Sarah Sklash as they buy and refurbish rundown Toronto-area motels and turn them into showplaces designed to attract more customers and thus higher rental fees. The catch? Neither has experience in design or the hospitality industry. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: He's All That'

This reimagining of the 1999 teen cult hit "She's All That" turns the tables on the genders and stars newcomer Addison Rae as an influencer who accepts the challenge to transform her school's biggest loser (Tanner Buchanan, "Cobra Kai") into the prom king. Rachael Leigh Cook, who played the transformed party in the original, is the influencer's mother here. (ORIGINAL)

NAME: Shohei Ohtani

BIRTH DATE: July 5, 1994

BIRTHPLACE: Oshu, Japan

HEIGHT/WEIGHT: 6 feet 4

inches/210 pounds

In the category of players doing things that haven't been done before, we present for your consideration Shohei Ohtani.

Indeed, in their two-way sensation, the Los Angeles Angels have a designated hitter whose 37 home runs through the season's first four months and a starting pitcher whose 100 strikeouts in 15 starts (80 innings) has him as the favorite to win the American League MVP Award. In the opinion of Angels manager Joe Maddon, "It's not even close."

To list all his accomplishments as a two-way player would be impossible as he seemingly sets new marks by the day. But there is one name that keeps coming up as a comparison and that is an alltime great: Babe Ruth.

Before he gained his reputation as a prodigious slugger of 714 home runs primarily as a member of the New York Yankees, Ruth was a pitcher and a very good one for the Boston Red Sox. In fact, he won more than 20 games twice for the Sox in 1916 and 1917 and his ERA was usually among the league leaders. When he was sold to the Bombers in 1919, he was shifted to the outfield but did make two appearances as a pitcher in 1921, the year he hit 59 homers. For the record, he was 2-0 that year. Of course, Ohtani has a long way to go before he can approach the Bambino's career numbers but his 2021 stats as a hitter (.275, 37 dingers, 82 RBIs, .365 on-base percentage, 1.039 OPS) and pitcher (5-1, 3.04 ERA, 1.13 WHIP) as of early August certainly speak to his uniqueness as a talent. Ohtani and the Angels can be seen in action twice this week on national TV: On the road against the Cleveland Indians Sunday, Aug. 22, on ESPN, and at home versus the San Diego Padres Saturday, Aug. 28, on FS1.

> TEAMS: Hokkaido Nippon-Ham Fighters (2013-17); Los Angeles Angels (2018-present) POSITION: Pitcher, designated hitter, outfield BATS/THROWS: Left/right NO.: 17

HONORS AND ACHIEVEMENTS: Japan Series champion (2016); five-time NPB All-Star; Pacific League MVP (2016); Pacific League ERA leader (2015); American League Rookie of the Year (2018); AL All-Star (2021)

tasty iv BY GEORGE DICKIE The ingredients are always in season on 'Ranch to Table'

With the growing popularity of farmto-table eateries throughout the country, a show such as "Ranch to Table" seems well-timed.

Streaming currently on Magnolia Network, the half-hour series follows the day-to-day lives of Elizabeth Poett, her husband Austin and their children as they work on their 14,000-acre ranch, Rancho San Julian near Santa Barbara, Calif., where they raise cattle, chickens, sheep and pigs and grow apples, apricots, berries, beans and all manner of vegetables.

The work is hard and nonstop but the rewards are great as Elizabeth, who has no culinary training, then turns those uber-fresh ingredients into delicious family meals as well as incorporates them into her own creations and ancestral recipes.

It's a labor of love for the seventh generation rancher, who got the idea for the show from meeting people at farmer's markets and bringing them to Rancho San Julian for the ranch experience.

"I started doing these ranch/table events," she explains, "where people could feeding people who come and help us come to the ranch. We'd do maybe a canning class, maybe we'd make some jam Always my goal has been to have people connect with food in that way and be able to experience it more and that's what I have always wanted to do.

And so for the show, it's very exciting for me because I wanted to be able to do it on a bigger level and be able to really hopefully inspire people all around who would like to have a little bit more connection and understanding of where their food comes from and also just really enjoy food and cooking and just the whole experience of it.'

And there is a sense of community on the ranch. With an operation this large, the family can do only so much so friends and neighbors will pitch in. In return, Elizabeth and her family will reciprocate or she will do something known as a Santa Maria-style barbecue for everyone, on a grill that is raised and lowered over the coals on a pulley to control cooking speed.

In the premiere, she prepared a regional favorite – a tri tip sirloin with a dry rub and garlic clove inserted in the meat – on this contraption that has a long history in the area.

"I think you can really see what life is like on the ranch," Poett says, "and how it is connected so much to the food and work here on the ranch. I mean, that's a huge part of this culture around here And being able to feed them a really good meal is just a really important aspect of this ranch and of this community. And I also love it, so it works well."
